

Building your business

Talented people with disabilities can help

There is a vast, untapped pool of talent in your community – people with disabilities. Misperceptions and fears discourage many businesses from recruiting well-qualified people with disabilities. WorkSource offers accurate information and technical assistance to help you hire a “goodfit” for your business – and that hire may be a person with a disability.

People with disabilities make good employees. A long-term worker tracking study sponsored by DuPont Corporation concluded, “For 35 years, surveys have consistently shown that DuPont employees with disabilities equal or exceed their co-workers without disabilities in terms of job performance, attendance, and safety commitment.”

Want to learn more? Read the “Myths and Facts” on the flip side of this card. Then call to learn more about the benefits to your business – and to your community – of recruiting and hiring people with disabilities.

